

Oral Quiz – Nasals, Fricatives, Affricates

SPCO 203 Larsen

Circle each notated sound in the sentences, then record each sentence per the instructions below.

Record the following sentences, paying special attention to the [n] sound:

1. The pain from the burn is nothing.

Record the following sentences, paying special attention to the [m] sound:

2. My symptoms are majorly manipulative.

Record the following sentences, paying special attention to the [ŋ] sound:

3. A pang from a single bee sting is nothing to ignore for long.

Record the following sentences, paying special attention to the [f] sound:

4. The affluent have different beliefs regarding money.

Record the following sentences, paying special attention to the [v] sound:

5. She saved her velvet gloves.

Record the following sentences, paying special attention to the [θ] sound:

6. I thank you from the depth and breadth of my heart.

Record the following sentences, paying special attention to the [ð] sound:

7. The rhythm of the song soothed the writhing listeners.

Record the following sentences, paying special attention to the [s] sound:

8. Sally sells sea shells by the sea shore.

Record the following sentences, paying special attention to the [z] sound:

9. Do you suppose he observes the rules?

Record the following sentences, paying special attention to the [ʃ] sound:

10. The action shaped the special Senate session.

Record the following sentences, paying special attention to the [ʒ] sound:

11. Having vision helps to avoid confusion and add prestige in decision-making.

Record the following sentences, paying special attention to the [tʃ] sound:

12. A chain of glitches prevented me from checking with you.

Record the following sentences, paying special attention to the [dʒ] sound:

13. Jim was jogging near a hedge and smudged his rouge.

Record the following sentences, paying special attention to the [h] sound:

14. Hello, it is unhealthy to inhale without exhaling.